Description

Veeam Backup & Replication is a perfect way to back up and protect your virtual machines. It doesn't just support your virtual environment - rather, it leverages that environment to provide a whole new level of protection for all your virtualized applications, services and data. Backups are worthless if you cannot recover from them. With Veeam Backup & Replication, you can verify the recoverability of your backups - not just a few selected backups, but every backup, of every virtual machine, every time. You no longer have to settle for backups that "might work" or "should work" - instead, you can rest easy knowing that your backups actually do work. Veeam Backup & Replication provides exceptional value. It's licensed per CPU socket on the ESX host and includes backup, replication, deduplication and centralized management. There are no per-agent, per-VM or per-application license fees.
